Stafford Resigns As Councilman

Quits To Become Democratic Member Of Elections Board

George F. Stafford resigned as councilman - at - large Monday night to accept a membership on the Marion County Board of Elections.

The announcement came at the close of a regular session of City Council at City Hall.

The post held by Stafford will probably be filled by Council itself before its next regular meeting. Members will meet in a caucus next week to decide on his successor. If council does not choose a member within 30 days the appointment would be made by Mayor Robinson.

Stafford, a Democrat, was serving his second term on Council. He operates his own insurance agency at 120½ S. Main St.

He will be filling a vacancy on the Board of Elections left by the resignation of Harold E. Clark as a member of the board to accept the post of clerk of the board. Reorganization of the board began the first of March. Ross J. McGinnis resigned as clerk and the board appointed James F. Lauer to succeed him. Shortly after, Lauer resigned and Clark resigned as a member of the board to accept the post as clerk. That left a board vacancy which Stafford will fill.

Letter Read

In a letter to William G. Slack, president of the Council, read to Council members Monday night Stafford said, "It is with regret that I tender my resignation as councilman-at-large to you as president of the Marion City Council. I have enjoyed the association and fellowship of all while serving on Council. I will miss this association.

"I have been elected to serve as a board member on the Board of Elections."

He sat in his regular seat at the meeting Monday night but he did not vote.

In other action last night Council passed five ordinances paying claims to Marion residents.

Pay Increase Legislation

Councilman Don Quaintance, finance committee chairman, announced legislation is being prepared to give pay increases to non-elected city employes. He said the issue will be brought before Council at its next regular meeting May 26.

After a long discussion, council authorized Safety-Service Director Ralph E. Forrest to direct the Kroger Store on S. Prospect St. to restore the city alley north of the store as it was. The store had taken over the city alley for a loading zone and provided another strip adjacent to it to serve as an alley.

A resolution by Mayor Harold F. Robinson asking the State Legislature to put daylight savings time on the state ballot was unanimously passed. The Mayor's resolution asked the legislature to place the time question on the ballot to do away with the confusion resulting from parts of the state being on different times.

Committee Report

The Kroger alley question came up in a report by the street and alley committee. Don Quaintance, Fifth Ward, explained that

Effort Made To End Strike Short of T-H

Oilmen and Union Representatives Called by WSB

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Truman Administration today mad a last-ditch effort, short of invoking the Taft-Hartley act, to end the two-week strike of 90,000 oil industry workers.

Representatives of the industry and 22 striking unions were summoned before the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) for a meeting to determine whether union - company bargaining is making any progress.

President Truman was reliably reported waiting on the outcome of the meeting before deciding whether to invoke the T-H act's national emergency provisions. These include an 80-day court injunction against continuing a walkout.

Will Renew Plea

The WSB probably will renew its plea to the striking CIO, AFL and Independent unions to go back to work.

But O. A. Knight, president of the CIO Oil Workers International Union, largest of the union coalition, said in advance of the meeting the group intended to continue the strike until it wins suitable contracts.

The unions rejected an earlier WSB request to end the walkout. The WSB said it was not violating its rule against handling a dispute where a strike was in progress because today's hearing would not concern the merits of the dispute, only the bargaining status and prospects of ending the strike.

Koje Island Deal Leaves Pentagon Hot

Prison Camp Head Fired; Full Report Of Incident Demanded

SEOUL, Korea (AP)— Brig. Gen. Charles F. Colson was removed today as commandant of Koje Island—three days after he made a sharply criticized deal there with Red prisoners of war for the release of his predecessor.

The new shakeup in the Koje command came less than 12 hours after it became known the Joint Chiefs of Staff demanded:

—Immediate and full clarification of circumstances leading to Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd's capture by his Koje prisoners.

2—Colson's promised concessions to Communist POW leaders which won Dodd's release Saturday night.

Gen. Mark Clark, who became Far Eastern commander Monday, was instructed to send his report to the Pentagon "by the fastest means possible."

Front Line Vet Named

Lt. Gen James A. Van Fleet named Brig. Gen. Hayden L. Boatner, veteran front line infantry commander from New Orleans.

Public Gets Data on New U.S. Bombers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Air Force today took the "classified" label off its two new all-jet heavy bombers, the YB-52 and the YB-60.

It also:

1. Disclosed dimensions which show that the YB-60 is somewhat the larger of the two.

2. Released pictures showing hitherto unpublished details.

3. Announced that the YB-52 Strato Fortress is going into production at the Boeing Aircraft Co plant in Seattle.

No announcement was made as to production plans for the Convair YB-60, which was built by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Co. at Fort Worth, Tex. Still secret are the weight and speed, range and other performance details of the giant aircraft.

These are the dimensions of the global bombers:

Wing span — The YB-60, 206 feet; YB-52, 185. Because the wings are swept back, the span is less than the 230 feet of Convair B-36, largest bomber now in operation. The B-60 is a development of and improvement upon the B-36.

Length — B-60, 171 feet; B-52, 153; B-36, 162.

Tail height — B-60, 50 feet; B-52, 48; B-36, 46¾.

The B-36 has four jet engines six piston engines, a gross weight of 358,000 pounds, a range of 10,000 miles and a top speed of more than 435 miles an hour. The B-60 may be considered faster than this.

Both new bombers are powered with eight new Pratt and Whitney J-57 jets, believed to be the most powerful jet engines in the world.

Plead Steel Case Before High Court

Justices Quiz Govt. Attorney; Industry Ready With Rebuttal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arguments on the legality of President Truman's seizure of the steel mills were resumed before the Supreme Court at 11:03 a.m. today.

The administration had 17 minutes remaining of the two and one-half hours allowed it to plead for reversal of the decision by U. S. District Judge David A. Pine that the seizure was illegal.

Counsel for the steel industry had reserved more than an hour for rebuttal.

The court listened—and asked questions—for more than three hours Monday during which:

John W. Davis, speaking for the steel industry, argued that President Truman had no authority, under the Constitution or any law, to take over the steel mills. He called Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, nominal operator of the mills under government possession, "a mere trespasser."

Philip B. Perlman, solicitor general and acting attorney general, contended that the President, under the Constitution, not only had the right—but the duty—to take over the mills to prevent a strike of 650,000 CIO United Steel Workers in a demand for higher pay.

Perlman was on the receiving end of most of the questions asked by the nine justices. He used up all but 17 minutes of the 2½ hours allotted to him, but Davis had more than an hour left.

The arguments, for the most part, had a familiar ring. They had been made either in the lower courts or in the many legal briefs filed with the high court.

The white-haired, 79-year-old Davis had almost no interruptions. He spoke for 53 minutes before Justice Frankfurter broke the silence from the bench with a question.

Justices Quiz Perlman

Perlman, on the other hand, was bombarded with questions almost from the time he started talking.

Davis argued that the steel mills were seized without due process of law and therefore in violation of the fifth amendment.

"It is an immutable principle that ours is a government of laws and not of men," he said.

Davis, a one-time solicitor general who was the Democratic presidential nominee in 1924 (he lost to Calvin Coolidge), conceded it was not mandatory upon the President to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act. But, he contended, any effort on the President's part to force a new and different weapon for dealing with labor-management disputes "only points up our claim of usurpation."

Davis told the court that "power grows by what it feeds upon." He added:

"Those who occupy office under the government, however lofty, are still servants with limited duty and power."

Perlman said Davis had made "an eloquent argument designed to turn the minds of the court away from the facts in this case, away from the reasons that prompted the President to take the action that he did."

"Little was said about the vital necessity of keeping the plants

Taft-Hartley Law Target Of Steelworkers

Measure Blasted As Union Convention Opens in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The CIO United Steelworkers Union today claimed that the steel industry has refused to sign a new contract with what the union terms an adequate wage increase because of:

1. The industry's "insistence on an inflationary and undeserved price increase" and 2. The Taft-Hartley law.

The charges were embodied in a detailed 88-page report presented by the unions officers at the opening of the sixth (biennial) constitutional convention. Approximately 3,000 delegates representing 1,079,703 steelworkers are here for the five-day policymaking conclave.

Nearly one-fifth of the report dealt with the Taft-Hartley Act "and how it has operated to stifle labor's rights," as the union put it.

West Virginia Holds Political Spotlight

Taft Seen Likely To Grab All 16 Of GOP Delegates

By The Associated Press

The Taft-Eisenhower fight for Republican presidential - nominating delegates, tightened up a little by results in Rhode Island and Wyoming, swings today to West Virginia.

The weather was fair there and a half-million ballots were expected in a primary. Features, besides hot nomination races for governor and Congress, were:

1. Election of 16-vote Republican and 20-vote Democratic delegations to the Chicago national conventions in July.

2 A GOP popularity contest between Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio and former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota, spiced by a movement for write-in votes — which can not count legally—for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

Taft backers, with the solid support of the state organization were confident of capturing all 16 Republican delegates. Eisenhower forces said they would consider it a victory to elect even one Eisenhower delegate.

In the preferential poll, Taft looked like a shoo-in over Stassen. Eisenhower people are asking voters to write "Ike" across the names of Stassen and Taft even though such write-ins won't be counted. Their avowed purpose, to cut down the Taft popularity vote.

There was no Democratic preference vote. Candidates for the 20-vote delegation, except for one supporter of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, kept silent as to which nominee-candidate they favored.

Officially, delegations of both parties will be uninstructed.

Reds Charge Convoy Strafed

MUNSAN, KOREA (AP) — Communist truce negotiators charged today an Allied plane killed a member of their delegation and accused the U. N. Command of treating prisoners of war in "barbarous medieval" fashion.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, top U. N. negotiator, called it "a vicious propaganda blast to widen the breach between us."

The Red charges were voiced by North Korean Gen. Nam Il at a full dress armistice session. He said an Allied plane strafed a Red truce convoy Monday. The Allies said they would investigate.

Nam spoke 31 minutes of the 35-minute session.

Reds Lose 5 More Jets In Scrap With Sabres

SEOUL, KOREA (AP)—U. S. airmen today destroyed five Communist jets, probably shot down two and damaged six in a half dozen battles over North Korea, the Fifth Air Force said.

The Air Force credited Sabre jet pilots with all the kills and probables and three of the damage claims.

Thunderjet fighter bomber pilots were credited with the three other damaged planes—two MIGs and the other a rarely seen new Red "type 15" jet.

Limbs Found By Farmer In Woods

Had Been Shot, Then Dynamited In Gang Style Slaying

Special To The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY—Pieces of the body of a man apparently killed in a gangland slaying and then dynamited to prevent identity were found in a lonely wooded area in the southwest corner of Wyandot County Monday afternoon.

The FBI has joined Sheriff Ben H. Stansberry in searching for clues at the scene of the crime, 14 miles southwest of Upper Sandusky.

Farmer Elmer Wyss found a human foot when he went into the woods to dump trash Monday afternoon at 3 p.m. He called Sheriff Stansberry and Coroner B. A. Hathaway and a search turned up more remains.

Legs, arms, and head were found within a 100-foot radius of a shallow hole in the ground blown by the explosion. Most of his body had been blown to shreds.

His head had a bullet hole in it. Authorities theorize he was shot, his body dumped in the woods and then blown up with a stick of dynamite placed on top of it.

Heard Blast Thursday Night

Neighbors of Wyss said they saw headlights of a car enter and leave the woods shortly before a blast shook the grove about 9:30 p.m. last Thursday. Residents said they thought the explosion had come from the nearby Herzog stone quarry in Hardin County and thought no more about it.

Authorities believe the man was killed in a large city, driven to the woods, and dynamited in an attempt to destroy all identity.

Even the ends of the man's fingers were sliced with a knife or razor to prevent identification by fingerprints. However, a state highway patrol fingerprint expert was reported trying to obtain a set of the man's fingerprints despite the condition of the fingers.

Remains of the body were gathered up and shipped to Ohio State University Monday night. An autopsy was performed Monday night by Dr. Emmerick von Haam, a OSU pathologist. He declined to disclose his findings but said he was making an examination of the man's teeth in an effort to determine his age.

No Missing Persons

A check revealed no missing persons in either Wyandot or adjoining counties. A temporary verdict of homicide has been returned.

Only clothing found was a pair of bloody undershorts and a tattered T-shirt. Identification was made more difficult by the battered condition of the head.

Apparently, dynamite was placed on top of the body and then exploded. Authorities said they thought the cause of death was from a bullet. A bullet hole was found in the skull but there was no trace of the bullet.

The woods where the body was found is three and one-half miles southeast of Forest along county road 64 in Jackson Township. The woods are about half a mile east of the Hardin-Wyandot County line. The body was found near a lane which runs back into the woods.

County road 64, which runs east and west, is well traveled in the daytime by farmers and lime trucks but it is often deserted at night, residents of the area said.

The body had been blown up about 150 feet off county road 64. The woods lies south of the road. It being cut for oak timber.

Ask Parents To Aid Obscenity Probe

House Orders Cleanup Of Radio-TV, Books

WASHINGTON (AP)—Parents throughout the nation were urged today to help Congress clean up radio and television programs, books, magazines and comics.

Investigations by two committees into those fields were ordered Monday by the House in separate resolutions passed without vocal opposition. Only 31 of the 435 House members were present at the time.

A commerce subcommittee will "determine the extent to which the radio and television programs currently available to the people of the United States contain immoral or otherwise offensive matter or place improper emphasis upon crime, violence, and corruption."

A special nine-man committee to be named by Speaker Rayburn will do the same with respect to "current literature," defined as books, magazines, and comic books.

Both resolutions were introduced by Rep. Gathings (D-Ark), who is expected to head the special committee.

Private Eye in Minor Key

"GOOD MORNING, sweetheart. When the chips were down I thought I had a whole sleeveful of aces, but when I called his bluff, he drew in all the chips So cuddle up, baby, while I tell you the case of the coward's choice."

That is the way Charlie Wild, Private Detective, opens each week's episode, talking this peculiar brand of malarkey into a dictaphone. Presumably, the cuddle bunny he's talking to comes in later and transcribes it all, though for what purpose I couldn't say. At any rate, Mr. Wild, like all these private dicks, has a female assistant, but unlike the rest of them you never lay eyes on her. That's one way to shave production costs.

APART FROM the fishy opening, Charlie Wild is a cut above most whodunits. There is a studious attempt at plausibility. That particular story outlined above, the case of the coward's choice, was a simple tale of a hit-and-run driver who hadn't the courage to confess his crime. This one was perhaps a little too commonplace. It never quite got off the ground.

Also, the dialogue at times was painfully ordinary. "I don't know where to begin." "Let's begin at the beginning." "I don't know why I'm telling you all this." As a private eye, Wild, who is played by John McQuade, is not nearly so breezy as most of his contemporaries. He even says "sir" to the people he's investigating; he removes his hat in the house (though almost never his coat), doesn't put his feet on the furniture and doesn't make passes at all the blondes. In short, a respectable character.

Len Valenta, who directs it, gets a lot of dramatic wallop for very little money by his emphasis on little things — a pair of hands, a shot of heads, a shot of a chessboard. This sort of suggestive direction is not only economical but also it tells a story more eloquently than a full set. It substitutes ingenuity for cash in the best possible way. And Mr. Wild's reaction to homicide is humane, intelligent and honest.

A LITTLE BELATEDLY I'd like to say a few words about the first telecast of the Kentucky Derby, that much abused horse race. Bryan Field is an excellent caller of horse races and he called a pretty good race. But he seemed nervous, which is odd, considering that he has been in this line of work for years. At the finish he called Pinter in show position, when actually, the horse finished far down the list, but otherwise he did very well.

Sammy Renick, who provided the color chatter before and after the race, was, as they say, a horse of a different color. Over and over, he told us that this was a great day, that we were about to see a great race and that Hill Gale was the favorite — bits of information of no particular use. There were some great shots of the horses as they paraded to the post. But there was little previous exposition about them from Mr. Renick, who appeared to be dealing off the cuff, without any prepared material. Since these are the finest three-year-olds in the land — (barring the sick and the temperamental like Tom Fool and Causin)—this is inexcusable.

AFTER THE RACE was run, Mr. Renick again whipped himself into a fine froth of hysteria, much of it unintelligible. However, there was a nice picture of Hill Gail, which chafed under the blanket of roses as every Derby winner has done since the beginning of time. Race horses are still the most personable and most honest actors to appear on television. He didn't even seem to mind the remark of his owner, Mrs. Warren Wright, that with a combination like Ben Jones and Eddie Arcaro "you don't need a good horse to win," a crack that ought to be seriously resented by any horse that ran a mile and a quarter at Hill Gail's speed.

SUTTON'S PAL QUIZZED IN BOSTON. In the custody of Massachusetts Police Lt. John Sullivan, one-eyed Harvey Bistany (right) is taken to Boston police headquarters for questioning in connection with a series of holdups in the New England area. A former pal of bank robber Willie Sutton, Bistany was nabbed in Providence, R I., recently as a suspect in the slaying of Arnold Schuster, the Brooklyn boy who put the finger on Sutton. New York officials are a bit skeptical, however.

WIFE BROODS

HASTINGS, Neb. (UP)—A Hastings farmer returned home from a visit to town to find his wife sitting in the brooder house with the chickens. The farmer had forgotten to order fuel oil for their home furnace and a cold snap had set in.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

Harry Underwood's eyes were filled with incredulity when I had finished telling him about Marion's determination to marry Ronald despite her fiance's scruples

"I don't understand," he said heavily. "She always has been so docile, and has leaned on her mother's judgment in everything."

"She isnt leaning on it now," I said, a bit caustically, "and I am afraid, if Lilian doesn't watch her step, she will dig a pit between herself and Marion which never can be bridged. The peril of that is very real, Harry. I can't begin to tell you how terrified I am about it."

I dashed my hand angrily against my eyes as I finished, for I was afraid of the tears just behind my eyelids. But, to my amazement, they were the weapon I needed. Harry Underwood's face changed to tenderness, and though there still were uneasiness and confusion in his eyes, I no longer saw the skeptical gleam which had so unnerved me.

"Look here, Lady Fair!" he adjured me, "you're not talking to the prosecuting attorney. I can see that I'm not up to date on this thing. There have been developments since I left. Am I right?"

"Yes, you are," I told him tremulously.

"Then," he said, giving me one of his old crooked smiles which heartened me, "suppose you begin at the beginning and tell me everything that's happened. You have plenty of time, haven't you?"

Dicky told me not to come back until after four o'clock," I said. "I have to make my shopping trip believable."

"Okay, then," he said, settling deeper into his chair. "Shoot the whole bunch of firecrackers."

"You knew that Carlotta Carroll had gone up to the Brixtons, masquerading as a maid?" I queried. "She put an alluring advertisement into the paper, and Helena grabbed the bait."

"Yes, I knew that, and also that she had found out the ravishing nurse who, Helena said, had made him forget Marion, was a hatchet-faced woman of fifty. But," he finished, "that was all the news available when I went away."

"Then I can tell you things," I told him. "Carlotta found out that Ronald had no disease, was not blind, nor disfigured, nor an amputee. He had been shot in both legs, but while the surgeons saved both of them, there is a queer sort of paralysis in them. There is less than a fifty-fifty chance that he ever will walk again. He is confined to a wheel chair, but, he is perfectly healthy, and probably will live to be an old man."

"Fine prospect for Marion," Harry said, and I knew that he was considering no angle but that of his beloved step-daughter's comfort.

"She thinks so," I told him flatly. "Oh, of course, the devoted, self-sacrificing darling!" he said "But she must be saved from her own impulses. I agree with Lil on that."

My mental barometer dived downward. But I determined to stand my ground.

"You must hear the rest before you decide," I said. "Carlotta came back here with the story and she told of hearing Ronald moan piteously when he thought he was alone that he must give up Marion and never see her again, because he was crippled and could not take care of her, but that his resolve was killing him because he loved her so deeply. Can you imagine what that story did to Marion?"

QUITS TRACK POST

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Thomas O'Brien Flynn announced Monday his resignation as administrative assistant to William G. Lias in the operation of Wheeling Downs. Flynn said he left the post because of the "uncertainty of things" in Lias' current income tax difficulties. The half-mile horse track and other Lias holdings were placed in receivership in the government's efforts to collect some $2,700,000 it contends Lias owes in income taxes, interest and penalties.

Typographical Union Renames Old Officers

Election of officers for the new year was held when Marion Typographical Union 675 met Monday night in the Marion Central Labor Union hall.

David B. Metzger was re-elected president, Robert Cocherl was re-elected vice president, Fred P. Haas was re-elected secretary and treasurer, and Fred Custer was re-elected sergeant-at-arms. Named auditor was Roger Campbell.

Installation will be conducted at the June meeting.

Obligated as an apprentice member of the union was James Telford Brown. Reports of the Ohio Typographical conference held April 18-19 in Springfield were given by Mr. Metzger and Mr. Cocherl, who attended as delegates from the Marion union.

FEW UNDER PAR

NEW YORK (AP) — Sub-par golf, usually common in professional golf tournaments, was a rarity as more than 60 players qualified for the PGA championship starting in Louisville June 18. Qualifying tests were held in some 20 cities and par was broken only nine times—five times at Fort Worth's Glenn Garden course and four times at Los Angeles' Wilshire Country Club.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

HEARD ON THIS BEAT:

Word flashed back from Korea not too long ago that a certain type of rocket would be just the lethal thing for some fighting sectors. It was secretly designed; secretly ordered and now is being "secretly" produced in only one special pilot plant, the S. W. Farber plant, whose operations presumably are unknown to any but its working people. But the pro-Communists know about it, too.

For nine years the union at the aluminum factory has been the pro - Soviet United Electrical Workers, led by Jim Lustig—now up for deportation and barred from the plant by the government. But quietly that pro-Sovietcer had each worker put on paper a complete job description and turn it over to him. This, under our cockeyed laws, is legal. He now has a complete file on all operations going into the mystery missile. Meanwhile, the AFL union, George Farasch's Allied Trades Council, must fight every inch of the way under the law to help the workers eliminate this pro-Soviet UE group.

THE TELEVISION battle for labor's vote has hit the viewing screens this early in the presidential campaign. With the CIO already a good way through production of a series of 13 TV films for national distribution, the Republican Party has taken the counter-offensive with a half hour telecast film of its own. Among other bits, spoken by professional actors the GOP film, now being sent across the country by the Republican Congressional Committee, charges that the Taft-Hartley law does not enslave labor; that President Truman was the one to attempt to draft labor, and that the unions prospered during the Taft-Hartley years . . . . . .

MEANWHILE, it's Averell Harriman who is lining up the strongest support among national labor leaders. A few days ago he had a "very cordial" off-the-record talk with CIO Steel Union chief, Phil Murray. On May 20, Harriman will meet the AFL's high command in Boston where he will be assured of at least 80 per cent support among the Federation's high councilmen. Harriman is the only candidate for the nomination who has a special assistant lining up labor chiefs. He's Greg Bardecke, formerly of the Hatters Union, the Ladies Garment workers and the Machinists. Harriman has long outmatched Sen. Kefauver's labor strength—and he is now virtually labor's candidate, although the union chiefs have absolutely not given up hope for a Truman draft.

Failing that, they'd like Stevenson. But of the avowed Democratic candidates—it's Harrimna all the way.

JOHN LEWIS is lunching regularly with important Senators, pledging them support in return for promises that they'll back new laws he wants. At some of these talks in Washington's Hotel Carlton, he's campaigned against Gen. Eisenhower . . . . Apparently, in Europe the CIO Democrats are not as intensely against the General as they are here. Recently, CIO's European representative, Victor Reuther, brother of Walter, talked at length with Ike and came away with a very favorable impression. They discussed European workers' living conditions . . . Senator Taft's campaigners in Washington will soon reveal that they have powerful support among the labor people and point to the Senator's heavy vote in scores of industrial cities in and out of Ohio, which they say reveals his strength among the rank and file workers . . .

WARNING: Some time in July, while the nation is watching the national political conventions, Japanese and American diplomats will meet to open the way for trade between Japan and Sovietized China.

This would rip our embargo of vital war stuff wide open—for it would permit dollar hungry Nipponese merchants to buy war-potential material here and reship the stuff to the Communist Chinese across that narrow strait. Then, since the Chinese will be paying on a barter basis, the Japs will attempt to resell Red goods here. So we will be paying for the consumer goods and war material to keep Mao Tse-tung's economy and armies alive. Nice people, those Japanese.

WATERFRONT UNIONS which work closely with gvoernment officials report that the rising sale of narcotics has not hit New England—and that Boston is cleaner of dope peddlers than any other major city . . . .

—:—

PHIL MURRAY now looks for a quick steel settlement — and he'll be glad to get it in direct negotiations. He feels that with Ben Fairless the new chairman of the board of U. S. Steel, the company and the union will work more harmoniously. Murray and Fairless like and trust each other.

DON'T BE SURPRISED to see the National Assoc. of Manufacturers and the national labor leaders fight the proposed Smith Act which is designed to avert crises such as the steel struggle. The bill calls on the courts to place any strike-crippled industry in receivership, with the expenses to be shared jointly by the union and management. Labor objects because all its books and finances would be seized and it couldn't strike. The industrialists would find the receiver handling their funds and securities. And Congress is upset because the other two sides are upset and it must now pass on unpopular anti-strike bill or keep silent in the face of the current labor crises after all its blustering.

JAPANESE STUDENT DOWN IN RIOT. Tokyo metropolitan police leave an injured student behind and another sitting on his haunches as they move in towards the Waseda University building. The action started after two police plainclothesmen tried to mingle with students while investigating the May 1 riots in Tokyo. They were seized by students, but one escaped. He called for help and reinforcements stormed their way into one of the university buildings and rescued the second policeman.

No Loss Results In Two Fires

Two fires, neither resulting in damage, occurred in Marion Monday.

Firemen from the Central station were called at 5:45 p.m. to a vacant field at the rear of 820 Cheney Ave., owned by the Pollak Steel Co., where burning rubbish had set fire to grass and trees.

A pickup truck owned by the Marion Country Club caught fire at Fairview Gardens on W. Fairground St. when gasoline leaking from the fuel pump was ignited by a hot manifold pipe. Firemen from the E. Mark St. station answered the call at 4:27 p.m.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP)—A little black and tan dog left near the Jacksonville Humane Society's rest home for animals, refused to take advantage of the hospitality offered. New City Road Grader Placed in Operation

Marion's new heavy road grader is now in operation repairing streets and alleys, Safety-Service Director Ralph E. Forrest said today. It has a 12-foot blade and four drive wheels.

He referred to the city's old grader as "a peanut" in comparison with the new one.

Authority to purchase the grader was given recently by city council.

Back to Childhood

By Hal Boyle

KANSAS CITY

IT IS A LONG ROAD back to childhood. It is hard to find the way.

Coming back to the home of his boyhood, a man finds it hard to forgive the changes. He has a vague resentment that things don't stay just as he left them . . . just as he holds them in memory.

He misses the neighbors who have died or moved away. Who cut down that tree in the back yard he climbed as a kid? The patch of blue sky looks bare and new. And the elm tree in the front yard. How did it ever get that tall?

Somehow he feels a stranger in the old house, lonesome because it has changed as much as he has. He has lost some hair and got a new false tooth. And it has been shingled, papered, and modernized with a new sink, another bathroom and a fine gas furnace.

I always have this lost feeling momentarily when I return to visit our family home here. It is old enough to be getting hardening of the rafters. But instead it is getting disgracefully younger and younger looking as I get more and more middle-aged. Why should a man age and a house grow young? What kind of a world is that?

The nicest thing in our old home right now is my 8-year-old niece, Kathy, the prettiest cowboy in the block. Kathy is at an age when she is losing her belief in the Easter bunny but still has a firm faith in the angels.

"I prayed you would come back —and you did," she told me. "I used to pray when you were away at the war or somewhere, and you came back then, too."

ALTHOUGH KATHY is glad to see me, the thing she really likes best about my visits is that I sleep in her bed and she gets to sleep with her grandma, which is a great privilege. We had a big family reunion dinner the other evening. Everyone ate heartily, and after we all went to bed the house began to vibrate from the snoring, a Boyle family trait. Finally mother joined the chorus.

Little Kathy immediately began to shake her.

"Grandma, grandma, wake up!" she cried. "You sound just like a lion!"

There is nothing like children to keep a house from growing old, and I guess it is Kathy who keeps our house vital and young. She has as her own room now the room in which dad and mother slept when they first moved there with five children more than 30 years ago.

One morning I awoke early and went downstairs. The steps still creaked betrayingly, just as they had years before when any of the boys tried to creep silently up them after coming home late.

Sitting alone in the silent living room, a room full of old family memories of quarrels and kindness, tears and warmth, I had the feeling of being a prisoner between two worlds -- the restless present and the lost, unchangeable past.

I WALKED TO THE BIG, old-fashioned front door and looked out. Up the street came two young boys, delivering the Sunday newspapers. They looked like brothers, and they were jostling each other and laughing.

Thirty years ago my older brother, Edward, and I had walked through the dawn streets this same way, laughing, jostling and arguing as we threw the morning papers — kerplunk! — on the front porches.

I stepped out on the porch and picked up our paper. The two boys looked at me curiously, then walked on. I watched them go, and it was as if I stood on a little platform in time — watching myself and my brother live together again a lost morning part of our lives.

Somehow it gave me the thing every one comes back to find, and when I went inside the door, I felt at home at last, and at peace with the past.

Gross Assumption

WHEN Senator Williams of Delaware told the Senate late last week that Harry Gross, head of a $20 million-a-year bookmaking business in Brooklyn, had filed no final income tax return for 1949 and 1950, he was delivering a shattering indictment of the federal government's honesty.

Gross is now serving a prison sentence for bookmaking, conspiracy and contempt of court. He has volunteered to testify in the trial of five New York police officials accused of accepting graft from him and of perjuring themselves in previous testimony.

But the real importance of Harry Gross and all others like him is the possibility they connived with the Bureau of Internal Revenue to cheat honest taxpayers out of millions of dollars' worth of income-tax revenue.

People like Gross could not have operated their illegal enterprises without the connivance of police officials. They could not have ignored their obligations to pay income taxes without the connivance of federal officials.

The question Senator Williams is asking—a question that eventually will be answered—is what connection existed between the upper crust of the underworld and the under crust of the government of the United States?

Problem in Presentation

AS THE time draws near for Gen. Eisenhower's first appearance in the United States as a contender for the Republican presidential nomination, a knotty problem weighs on him and his backers.

Circumstances have contributed to a buildup for what could be a terrible letdown—through no fault of his own. Too much is going to be expected when he begins to play the role of a candidate in the flesh.

The role will begin, according to present plans, when Gen. Eisenhower makes himself available at Abilene, Kan., for a press conference on June 4. He must then come up with answers for the first flurry of the hundreds of questions which eventually he must answer plausibly in order to show his grasp of public affairs.

At that point, an invidious comparison with Sen. Taft's long experience in dealing with the same affairs will be unavoidable. As Gen. Eisenhower, himself, admitted in commenting on foreign aid, he cannot be expected to know about the background of major issues in Washington.

As the general answers questions and states opinions, it is a certainty that he cannot please everybody; no office-seeker ever did please everybody. Those who tried learned to their sorrow that they had pleased nobody.

Every firm opinion, every firm answer to a leading question will alienate some of the Americans who "liked Ike" in the abstract but may like him with reservations in the concrete. That is the peculiar problem of his candidacy—a political liability already discounted by Sen. Taft.

It remains to be seen how successfully Gen. Eisenhower can discount the same liability between his return to the United States and the Republican national convention the first week in July.

Germany's Second Chance

FORTY per cent of the one million soldiers in the unified ground forces of the six western European nations which are backing up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will be drawn from West Germany.

The size of the German proportion signified a second chance for Germany to resist the eastern thrust of Communist Russia in the 20th century. This was Hitler's avowed aim, too. But there is a difference.

Hitler's associated aim was to make Germany the pre-eminent power in Europe. There is a very real and plausible fear among the French that a revival of German militarism might break out in the same form.

That militarism has been the root source of European trouble since the emergence of German nationalism in the 19th century. It has been impossible so far for German militarists and the politicians they controlled to conceive of military strength without military aggression.

Russia has been the victim of that aggression as well as France and England. It, too, has ample cause to wonder whether NATO may lose control sometime of a resurgent Germany.

There is, however, no thought of potential aggression in the plan for European military security which has been worked out under Gen. Eisenhower. Everything is being done with the single aim of creating a balance of military power which will make it impossible for Russia to do what Germany was doing just 10 years ago—to push over an unbalanced structure of false security in a sudden thrust toward control of Europe's sea coast.

A "Rough Campaign"

By David Lawrence

GOP President Race Compared With One in 1912

WASHINGTON

JUST WHY, it is being asked, is the present preconvention campaign in the Republican Party the "roughest in 40 years," as Senator Taft described it the other day?

The Ohio senator made reference to the bitter campaign of 1912, in which his father was engaged, as being somewhat parallel. But those who remember the 1912 preconvention contest will agree that only in certain phases was that contest parallel to what is happening this year.

In the first place, the battle between the President William Howard Taft and former President Theodore Roosevelt for the Republican presidential nomination was confined almost entirely to domestic issues. The cost of living had risen in 1910, and the people had elected for the first time in many years a Democratic majority in the House of Representatives. There was a rebellion inside the Republican Party, with the western faction of the party — known as the "progressive wing"—making the issue primarily the tariff, which those Republicans under the leadership of Senator Dolliver of Iowa had blamed for the high rise in the cost of living.

BUT THE DEEP cleavage inside the Republican Party was one of ideology and political philosophy long before it became apparent that former President Theodore Roosevelt would make an attempt to get back in office. What Mr. Roosevelt really did was to take advantage of the split in the party and side with the anti-administration liberals and progressives. This was the year in which the progressives or the "Bull Moose" faction, as it was then known, broke away from the Republican national convention at Chicago and formed a third party—a revolt which resulted in the easy election of Woodrow Wilson, who polled less than the total combined popular vote of Taft and Roosevelt. Mr. Taft got only eight electoral votes and Mr. Roosevelt 88. Mr. Wilson rode into office with a total electoral vote of 435, far more than the 266 required.

Many people who traveled across the country during that campaign, as did this correspondent, were indeed impressed by the vehemence and bitterness between the factions in the Republican Party. Former President Roosevelt went so far over to the radical side that he even favored in his public addresses a constitutional amendment which would permit Congress to veto Supreme Court decisions. At one time he advocated the recall not only of the decisions, but the recall of the Supreme Court justices themselves.

BUT WHILE the 1912 campaign divided the followers of the so-called conservative and progressive candidates very sharply, there is no such cleavage today between the supporters of General Eisenhower and those of Senator Taft. If one examines the sources of support for the two rivals, it will be found, of course, that the bulk of the conservative Republican faction is behind the Ohio senator, while the liberals and progressives are in the main behind General Eisenhower or candidates like Governor Warren and former Governor Stassen, who represent the viewpoint of that wing of the party.

The odd part of it, however, is that, if one examines Senator Taft's views on domestic questions, they are not far different from those of the other faction in the party. While General Eisenhower has not himself campaigned, the viewpoint of his followers like Senator Lodge of Massachusetts and Governor Dewey is not so far away from that of the Ohio senator. On matters like public housing, federal aid to education and labor-management legislation, there is not a great difference between the two groups.

IT IS PRIMARILY in the realm of foreign policy that there is such a wide difference this year between the two factions in the Republican party—that is, those supporting General Eisenhower and those supporting Senator Taft. Except for the intensity of the campaign and the sharpness of the attacks on one another as between the spokesmen of Eisenhower and those of Senator Taft, the 1912 and 1952 campaign are not parallel. But undoubtedly what Senator Taft had in mind, when he said that this year's campaign was the roughest since that of 40 years ago, is that he has been kept battling in the primaries as no candidate has ever been required to battle before. Certainly the Ohio senator has covered more ground than any presidential aspirant in history has heretofore in a preconvention campaign.

No Benefit

By TRUMAN TWILL

A FEW WEEKS AGO, a man who knows his way about Washington — Alexander F. Jones—coined a phrase in his swan song as president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors which seems likely to stick.

It not only tells something about the atmosphere in the national capital but something about the atmosphere in the United States. The way to win influence these days, said Mr. Jones, is to use the "cobra approach."

This is a model of simplicity in applying pressure. Some humans are born with the knack; others must learn how. The reason the "cobra approach" works so well is because some human beings are incapable of retaliating.

The cobra strikes without provocation. That is what Mr. Jones, editor of the Syracuse Herald-Journal, means when he speaks of the "cobra approach." The idea is to put the other fellow on the defensive with the first move.

Thereafter, the idea is to keep him on the defensive, never giving him a chance to clear up one accusation before another one is applied hot and smoking to his lacerated hide. A recent example of this was the treatment given Newbold Morris when he went to Washington to clean up corruption.

Before Mr. Morris had a chance to twitch his nose on the scent of evil-doing, he was accused of evil-doing himself, given a black eye and subsequently knocked out cold by the head of the department he was supposed to investigate.

It takes no stretch of the imagination to detect a parallel between the "cobra approach" in America and an approach being used in fernational affairs. The Kremlin has become expert in piling on accusations which neither can be answered nor ignored.

IT SWIPED the technique from the experts who polished it under the unscrupulous guidance of Hitler's henchmen Goebbels, the executive vice president of Nazi Germany in charge of big lies.

But the thing is not confined to politics. It is found in all kinds of places. In sports the same thing once was expressed by Leo Durocher when he observed that "nice guys never win" and proceeded to practice what he preached.

In industrial relations, which is the heart of a society that sustains itself by industrial production, the credo is visible in the fantastic falsehoods fed systematically to members of labor unions. These lead, in turn, to falsehoods circulated against members of labor unions, to the end that an air of bitter irreconcilability is generated in what is supposed to be a civilization of cooperation and mutual understanding.

The "cobra approach" has become the rule instead of the exception in many sectors of America and in many sectors of the world. One wonders sometimes if Adolf Hitler may not have accomplished what he set out to accomplish after all. It has been so long since anything that could be called good will has manifested itself spontaneously that the idea of giving anyone the benefit of a doubt is in danger of becoming extinct.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

General William Henry Harrison, who was put in command of the American forces of the northwest to retrieve Hull's surrender of Detroit in the war of 1812, passed through Marion County with his army and camped on the site of Marion in 1813. The path which he took through the wilderness ran from Franklinton, to Lake Erie, and became an established military road.

Soviets Adhere to "Sacred" Dogma

By Sir David Kelly

LONDON

RUSSIA'S FOREIGN relations are unique in that they are controlled by a "sacred" doctrine, just as the early Moslems were carried by their faith from Arabia to Touraine. Since most people are as unfamiliar with this doctrine as with the actual Soviet scene, this article could give the impression that Stalin's national socialist empire has departed from the Marxist basis, whereas it still is impossible to disentagle the two.

(The writer was British ambassador to Russia for three years before returning to England last fall. He previously had been ambassador to Turkey for three years and ambassador to Argentina for six years. Before that he was minister to Switzerland for three years).

The Soviet doctrine is no secret. All that matters is in Stalin's constantly republished "Problems of Leninism" (1924), of which the latest English edition was published in 1947, and his "Short History of the Communist Party" (1938), both of which are obligatory for party members in Russia; since the war the whole doctrine has been reasserted in a campaign inaugurated by Zhdanov, Malenkov and Molotov.

It starts from the dialectic philosophy of Hegel which represented all phenomena as constantly changing into something different. Karl Marx turned this in "dialectical materialism." "Dialectic" really meant "contradiction."

All nature, it is held, is made up of contradictions which are, however, also interdependent; and contradiction is the motive force behind all development. The universe is purely material and governed by mechanical laws. Ideals, personality, and so on are secondary and belong to the "superstructure." The ideal is nothing else than the material world reflected by the human mind and translated into terms of thought.

SO THERE IS an inevitable mechanical development through each stage, breaking down under its internal contradictions and being succeeded by its negation—"thesis" by "antithesis"—and the antithesis in turn being succeeded by the "synthesis," which includes the valid points of both. This sounds meaningless till we translate it into feudalism, capitalism, socialism, which was what Marx really meant.

Thus capitalism, which replaced, and was a great improvement on, dying feudalism, has its day, but, sickened by internal contradictions, reaches its deathbed and awaits the moment for its abrupt qualitative replacement by socialism, which though its negation will incorporate its technical achievements — mass production, conveyor belts and skyscrapers. History is a logical sequence of stages, and the transition from each stage to the next is effected by a revolution.

Hegel had regarded the world as a manifestation of the absolute "mind"; Marx took over his dialectic, but made mind just a by-product of matter. How, in these circumstances, purely material forces can progress through logical stages, always getting better and better, is an inner contradiction of Marxist philosophy which it is for the Marxists to explain.

EXCEPT WHEN actually quoting, it is convenient to say "Lenin-Stalin," for their works make a whole. Lenin-Stalin, having to connect up the world of the October, 1917, revolution, with their Marxist doctrine, laid down that capitalism had entered its final predissolution phase, of which the characteristic was imperialism; and, secondly, that capitalistic development was uneven, so that, instead of simultaneous world revolution, there was to be "socialism in one country," but as the headquarters of the world revolution.

This "law" was a great change in socialist thought, and was the doctrinal cause of Trotsky's replacement by Stalin. The Western wishful thinkers interpreted it as meaning that Russia would, after all, mind her own business but it meant the exact contrary, as Lenin-Stalin carefully explained. They said the revolution had ushered in the third historical stage which must end with the final defeat of imperialism-capital by socialism; that it would be a long period marked by "conflicts and wars, ebbs and flows"; and that its distinguished marks would be:

The division of the world into two rival camps.

The intensification of the "three contradictions" of capitalism. They said that during this period the strategy of the world revolution (directed by the one socialist country) would be unchanging, but its tactics—"the line over a short period"—must vary so as to nurse the strength of the one (weak and backward) socialist country.

IN THIS FORMULA lies the secret of the twists and changes in Russian foreign policy — on the one hand, trade treaties, nonaggression pacts, popular fronts, League of Nations or U.N.; and, on the other hand, the insistent claim to represent the proletariat over the heads of their governments and the steady fomentation of "colonial nationalism" in Asia and Africa. So when Stalin said in 1927 that the existence of the two camps did not exclude the possibility of agreements about exports and imports or nonaggression, he was quite honest, as he added "within the limits permitted by these two systems but only within these limits."

While, therefore, tactics must be flexible and shaped to preserve Russia from encirclement, strategy required alliance with the proletarian movement in developed countries, and with "liberation" movements in colonial countries, and, everywhere, the aggravation of the three contradictions which were eating into capitalism. These are the contradictions: Between capital and labor; between the various imperialist powers themselves, and between financial groups, in their struggle for raw materials and markets; between ruling nations and dependent peoples.

Since the war, Russian tactics have been older and more in line with the strategy, and the duality therefore much less. Zhadanov in 1947 explained why. The two camps, he said, were there all right, but the balance of power had shifted heavily to the Soviet camp.

Though the United States had grown stronger, the other imperialist powers had either gone under or become greatly weakened and satellites of the U.S.—he gave a list including Britain, France, Holland and Belgium, Greece and Turkey—and Russia had grown much stronger, too; while the three contradictions were going full speed ahead. The Soviet satellite states were both a buffer and a corridor into the West, so Russia could afford to take a stronger line.

THIS HAS BEEN shown in the more open attempts to aggravate the contradictions by fomenting trouble between capital and labor, the U.S. and Britain, the U.S. and Latin America, the U.S. and the Marshall Plan countries, the colonial powers and their colonies; in the more open attack on social democracy and labor parties; and in the attitude of all international groupings. On this latter point, the line has been to take part in those which could be used for Soviet purposes (U.N., UNRRA) and not only to abstain from UNESCO, UNFAO, civil aviation and health authorities, etc., but to oppose them, for fear of their being used against themselves.

As regards the Marshall Plan, this threatened seriously to soften the edges of the U.S.-Europe contradiction, so it was answered by the creation of the Cominform. This latter soon justified its existence by hitting on the bright idea of the peace campaign, which was a well-organized effort to create a contradiction between the western governments and their peoples on the emotional appeal of the word "peace"— to bring "not peace but a sword."

TV Growing Pains

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What television needs most today is an adult audience willing to help TV through its childhood and adolescence. So says Jack Morrison, lecturer in theater arts at the University of California. Adults should be selective about their programs and should let the sponsor know by mail which shows they like, says Morrison.

As a last resort representative organizations can ask the Federal Communications Commission for consumer hearings on television content matters.

The Once Over

It's in The News

WHAT ESTES KEFAUVER, Crime Buster, is doing to the other Democratic aspirants to the Presidency is a real crime. . . . (They are out of the picture almost as completely as was Costello.) . . . We heard of a Democratic candidate who just refused to fight Kefauver unless protected against television and permitted a postponement on his doctor's certificate.

None of the party leaders want Estes, almost all the major organizations are against him, President Truman likes him the way Warren Giles likes Scotty Robb, and the experts think his chances slim, yet Tennessee's gift to video continues to pile up a tremendous popular vote and may yet become the first man to make it under the slogan "From Channels Two, Four and Six to White House." Six months ago the consensus was that Estes had no more chance playing the political machine than he would have playing one of the Costello slot machines. . . . Today the "plums" are dropping for him every time he pulls down the crank. . . . It would be the irony of the Year if the country's foremost foe of gambling, playing himself as a long shot, took the biggest jackpot the country has to offer.

GOTHAM IS AGOG over changing the name of First Avenue to something more suggestive of the United Nations' presence there. . . . Maybe the idea is to help the U.N. delegates be a little more certain where they are. . . . Skeptics are now suggesting Rue de Wrangle, Avenue of Waltzes, Monkey Wrench Plaza and Dilly-Dally Viaduct. . . . In view of the exasperating routines of the Russians, how about calling it Malik Corso, Boulevard of the Walkouts or Rue de Winds. . . . The commies, of course, want the street changed to Joe's Alley. . . . "If the name of any street in the vicinity of U.N. is to be changed it should be changed to something associated with the organization in the public mind, "Elmer Twitchell argued today. "Veto Viaduct?" we suggested. "Either that or Abstention Parkway," snapped Elmer. . . . (But Upside Down Street is still our favorite.)

NOW THAT CURBS on installment buying are off it will be easier to make the time-payments on a sirloin steak. . . . The push which Scotty Robb gave Eddie Stanky must go into the books as a record. . . . It is the only push which had such a terrific recoil it shoved an ump clear out of one league into another. . . . How about a rewrite of "Paul Revere" to make the line read "One if by land and two if by SEIZE"? . . . One of the big Miami Beach hotels has been ordered closed for 30 days for violating the bookmaking law. . . . The maximum is a year. . . . (Aw, why not let it off in care of a probation officer?) . . . President Truman at 68 says he doesn't feel a day over 30. . . . Wanna bet?

AUTO INSURANCE RATES are about to take another big boost due to many accidents. . . . The traffic situation is so dangerous today that a wise driver carries his insurance policy with his operating license. . . . A Federal Court decision that the $50 Federal tax on bookies is unconstitutional will now go to the Supreme Court with the score standing "horse and horse."

They have recommended the general construction contract be let to the Baldauf Construction Co. of Marion, on their low base bid of $176,077. There were five alternates and one addendum attached to their base bid. These will be studied by the board to decide which shall be included Other general construction bids were received from Brock Sanders of Columbus, Knowlton Construction Co. of Bellefontaine, Marion Contracting Co., Steward Construction of Marion, George W. Timmons of Columbus and Norton and Nadalin.

Sewage Plant

Four conditions were set out by Dr. John D. Porterfield, director of health for Ohio, for the department's acceptance of the new sewage treatment plant. The board is to provide proper maintenance, sand for the filters to be approved before using, the department to be notified when completed for inspection before it is used. The state approval will be null and void unless contracts have been awarded prior to May 1, 1953. The board accepted the conditions as set forth by Dr. Porterfield.

The clerk was instructed to get estimates on the removal of playground equipment to another site on the playground since its present location will interfere with the erection of the new building.

The matter of a school patrol while buses are loading and unloading and the use of signs diverting traffic from the school area was referred to Supt. N. C. Roettger.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. has informed the board gas will be available for heat in the new school building.

Special to The Star

GREEN CAMP—Council at its May meeting let a contract to the Grindell Construction Co. of Richwood for the repair of Columbus, S. Main and Mill Sts

The village solicitor, William Gracely, recommened, after consultation with the Marion County engineer, that the matter of establishing lot lines and the necessary surveying services be left to the individual and not the village

Council took steps for the removal of a number of trees on the village dump. The township trustees met with council and heard proposals of a representative of the Howe Fire Apparatus Co. of Indiana, regarding the purchase of new fire equipment by the joint village-township. The matter will be further investigated and the issue will probably be on the November ballot for a vote of the people.

Fined $50, Sentenced On Assault Charge

James Henry Walker, 20, of Bryant St. was sentenced to 30 days in the Marion County jail and fined $50 and costs when he pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Monday to an assault and battery charge.

Walker was charged with hitting Mrs. Helen Coon of 195 Hecker St. at 1:15 a.m. Sunday in Mrs. Coon's home, where he was visiting to watch a television show. He became enraged at a remark and hit her about the face, Sheriff LeRoy Retterer reported today.

The complaint was filed against Walker by Mrs. Coon.

Designed To Broaden Resources

Development Program Planned by Chamber

Preliminary work has been started to formulate an expanded community development program for the benefit of the citizens of Marion and this area, under leadership of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today by Carl H. Knirk, president, and Hugh E. Webster, executive secretary.

A meeting of the chamber's board of directors will be held at noon Friday in the upstairs meeting room of the National City Bank's West Town Branch to discuss the plans that have been drafted thus far.

Knirk said details will be announced as the plans unfold. He said the program will be designed to broaden and accelerate the development of the business, industrial, agricultural and civic resources of this community.

The chamber will expand its facilities as an organization in order to be adequately prepared to carry out the program, Knirk said.

Due to the size of the program, the chamber secured the assistance of Lloyd A. Wilson, president of the Lloyd A. Wilson Service, of San Francisco, Calif., as counselor and program director.

Wilson, accompanied by his wife, arrived here Monday and began his duties at the chamber office. He said he will assist the citizens of Marion in studying the community's needs and helping the chamber to set up the enlarged program on a workable basis to meet those needs.

Other cities Wilson has recently assisted in similar programs through their chambers of commerce include Lima, Portsmouth and Chillicothe, Ohio; Pontiac, Mich.; Galesburg, Ill.; Atlanta, Ga.; San Francisco, Pasadena and Santa Rosa, Calif.; and other cities in various parts of the United States. He is nationally known as a specialist in this type of work.

"We feel fortunate to have Wilson personally aiding us in this program," Knirk said, "and we are confident all Marion citizens will gladly cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce in this major effort for our economic and civic progress."

Miss Luella Scholl, School Teacher for 52 Years, Resigns

The resignation of Miss Luella Scholl, a member of the Marion City School system for 52 years, was presented, four new elementary teachers employed for the 1952-53 school term and reports of junior and senior high school principals and special teachers given at the May meeting of the board of education, Monday night in the administration building.

Miss Scholl, whose work in the elementary schools covers a period of 52 years, 46 of which were in the Olney Avenue School where she is principal, attended the meeting and talked informally with the board members. A teacher of the first grade, she has been principal for the last 31 years.

Upon the recommendation of Supt. Lester L. Dickey, the following new teachers were employed for the coming school term: Miss Virginia Zuspan of Ada, Miss Dorothy Rhoads, Miss Ruth Schertzer and Mrs. Maude Church.

Reports Presented

In keeping with a plan inaugurated earlier this year, the second and last reports intended to better acquaint the board with the instruction program in the schools, were presented by junior and high school teacher personnel. L. G. Jones presented the junior and senior high school music program, Darl Gatchell, principal at George Washington and Forest Lawn buildings reported on a study he had made on school dropouts, Cecil Gabler gave the Harding High program, Floyd Gehres the adult education program and James E. Frew, principal at Edison, Clark Fouts, Vernon and Norman Fought, State Street, reported on the junior high school work.

A request from Lawrence Daly, pupil personnel director that he be reassigned to the Harding High School staff next year, was presented by Supt. Dickey and approved by the board. He will be reassigned to work in citizenship education.

The board approved the attendance of lunch room workers at the Edison and State Street Junior High Schools at a work shop for lunchroom cooks to be held at Bowling Green State University, June 3, 4 and 5.

Calendar Approved

Approved also was the school calendar for the 1952-53 terms: School will open Tuesday, Sept. 2; the Central Ohio Teachers' meeting will be held Friday Oct. 23; Armistice Day will be observed Tuesday, Nov. 11 and the Thanksgiving holidays Nov. 27 and 28. School will be dismissed for the Christmas holidays on Friday, Dec. 19, and will resume Monday, Jan. 5, 1953. The Easter vacation will be March 27 to April 6 and the term will close June 3, 1953.

A number of members of the Junior Service Guild attended the meeting.

With the assistance of special cooking and refrigerated cars and increased facilities at railroad stations British railways now serve food to 50 million passengers a year.

Ambrosia Tapioca Parfait Glamorous Dessert

There's a gold mine of goodness in this dessert. Simple to make but glamorous to serve, this ambrosia teams juicy summer oranges with fluffy tender coconut, adding eye appeal as well as taste appeal.

AMBROSIA TAPIOCA PARFAIT

1 egg white
2 T sugar
1 egg yolk
2 cups milk
2 or 3 T sugar
⅛ t salt
3 T quick-cooking tapioca
½ t vanilla
1 t grated orange rind
1/3 cup cream, whipped
Sweetened orange sections
Shredded coconut

Beat egg white until foamy throughout; add 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating with rotary egg beater until mixture will stand in soft peaks. Set aside.

Mix egg yolk with about ¼ cup of the milk in saucepan. Add 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar, salt, quick-cooking tapioca and remaining milk. Place over medium heat. Cook until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly—this takes 5 to 8 minutes.

Pour small amount of hot mixture gradually on egg-white meringue; blend. Add remaining mixture, stirring constantly. The hotter the tapioca and the faster it is blended in, the thicker and fluffier the pudding will be. Add vanilla and grated orange rind. Cool for 15 to 20 minutes.

Fold in whipped cream. Chill. Arrange sweetened orange sections in bottom of parfait glasses. Fill glasses with tapioca cream. Sprinkle with shredded coconut and garnish with orange sections. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CLEVELAND (AP) — An unemployed youth who said he "was just mad," grabbed a policeman's revolver and blazed away in an evening rush hour bus here Monday, killing four persons.

The youth, listed by police as Lawrence Goldsby, 20, killed the patrolman, two women passengers who complained he molested them, and a man passenger who was hit by a stray bullet.

Police quoted the killer as saying he burned the hair of a woman passenger "accidentally with the match while I was lighting a cigaret." That brought the patrolman aboard the bus and the shooting followed.

When his weapon clicked empty, three men overpower Goldsby and beat him savagely.

One of the three, Ted Connors, 24, boarded the bus about five minutes before the shooting and was near the front. He gave this report:

"I watched the cop and the inspector get on the bus and saw Goldsby grab the cop's gun, whirl and shoot the girl whose hair had been singed.

"She collapsed, and her head fell back over the seat. I dived back of another seat and heard five shots. I felt there might have been one more, but I got up anyway.

Slugs Goldsby

"A fellow had grabbed Goldsby, and my first impulse was to beat him So I went up and held him around the neck and slugged him with my fist."

While the men pinned the slayor in the driver's seat and beat him, terrified bus passengers —there were 60 to 80 of them on the local bus—crouched behind seats, scrambled through windows, or pushed toward the closed doors.

Dead were:

Patrolman Eugene D. Stinchcomb, 55, who was called from traffic directing at the busy Euclid Ave.-East 105th intersection and asked to take Goldsby off the bus.

Miss Annabelle Frankie, 24, whose yell—"my hair is burning" —brought the outward bound Euclid Ave. bus to a stop.

Mrs. Helen Garrison, 50, who joined in accusing Goldsby of touching a lighted cigaret to the hair of Miss Frankie, her friend and co-factory worker.

William J. Powers, about 60, former Chicago and Washington lawyer, who headed the federal constitutional law association of Detroit. Powers, who had an office here but lived most of the past two years in Grand Rapids, Mich., was defense counsel in 1944 for William Dudley Pelley, the Noblesville, Ind., "silver shirts" leader who was convicted of sedition.

Tells Story.

Through swollen lips, Goldsby told detectives Monday night he was a native of Pine Bluffs, Ark., and came here about two weeks ago from New York City where he had done odd jobs. He had no work here, he said.

to take over the turbulent 80,000-man prisoner camp.

Boatner, third general to hold the post within a week, arrived at Koje a few hours after his appointment. He speaks Chinese and is an expert on Chinese affairs.

Colson was reassigned to his former job as chief of staff of the First Corps in Korea.

Dodd, commandant of the island when Red prisoners captured him Wednesday, was reassigned to U. S. Eighth Army headquarters. His job was not announced.

On Koje flame-throwing American tanks and combat infantrymen stood guard outside barbed wire compounds, over some of which captured Chinese and North Koreans flew the Red flag.

Wording Criticized

U. S. defense officials in Washington took exception to the wording of Colson's agreement with the Red POW's. The Defense Department issued a statement Monday night saying the wording gave several wrong impressions.

It singled out these phrases: "many prisoners of war have been killed and wounded by U. N. forces;" prisoners will receive "humane treatment in the future," and there will be "no more forcible screening or any rearming of prisoners of war."

The Reds had demanded these guarantees, and many others that Colson did not promise.

he had spoken to Kroger officials concerning the alley which runs east and west just north of the store. Because their trucks frequently blocked the alley unloading produce, store officials used the regular alley for unloading and made the strip adjacent to the alley a new alley. The new strip was three times as wide as the old but it caused the alley to jog where it met the alley running west from S. Main St.

Councilman Harold Smith, First Ward, said he thought letting the Kroger Co use the alley would set a precedent. Tom Clark, councilman - at - large said he thought the company should have provided unloading space when the store was built.

Council voted against a proposal to leave the alley as it is. Only Quaintance and Harold Fralich, Sixth Ward, voted in favor of the proposal.

Claims Authorized

Claims authorized to be paid by council were: to A. B. Crawford, $23.89 for damages to his car when the fire chief's car backed into it; to John T. Wright, $32.24 for damages to his car when it was struck by a city truck; to Dale Walters, $14.53 for a broken rear spring when his car hit a hole on Thompson St.; to A W. Granger, $4.79 for damages when a city truck rolled back into his car; and to Earl L. West $105.60 for vacation pay earned while he was a city employe.

The number of claims resulting from city vehicles backing into cars brought a few remarks from council members. Herman L. Rinehart, third ward, said, "We should check and see if our trucks only have reverse gears." Harold Smith, first ward, remarked, "Maybe we should set up one night a month to take up backing-up claims."

Safety-Service director Forrest told Council that for the great number of city vehicles on Marion streets the record is not bad. He said under present policy of his department a man is taken off driving for a month if he is involved in an accident. He also reminded Council that many of the claims passed Monday night were old ones.

Transfer Funds

An ordinance transferring funds to pay for a new microscope for the health department and $600 to pay for Council members salaries was passed unanimously.

Council also unanimously passed an ordinance providing for the deposit of inactive funds from the sale of bonds. The legislation directed the city treasurer to enter into a contract with the National City Bank and the Marion County Bank to keep inactive funds at one per cent interest. Maximum amounts set up by the ordinance were $600,000 at the National City Bank and $300,000 at the Marion County Bank.

Routine legislation paved the way for renewal of a contract with D. A. Brown to continue to supply maintenance service for the police and fire radio system. It was passed unanimously.

Another ordinance passed unanimously authorized Saftey-Service Director Forrest to advertise for bids and enter into contracts for oiling and surface treating of various streets, alleys, and parking lots.

Council directed City Engineer Tom Cathers to prepare plans and specifications for a sanitary and storm water sewer on Midlam Ave. to be presented at the next regular meeting of council.

Councilman Rinehart suggested a map showing the entire city sewer system be drawn up by the city engineer's office. Both City Engineer Cathers and Safety-Service Director Forrest said not enough men are available at the present time to do the job.

Invocation was given by Rev. W. F. Kissell, pastor of the Evangelical and Reformed Church of Waldo.

Murder

deputy Karl Stansberry, found the blast hole at the foot of an oak tree. It was about 6 inches deep and lined with pieces of flesh and bones.

Leaves from the lower part of the oak tree were blown off. Scattered in a radius of 100 feet were the head, two legs below the knee, and two forearms. Pieces of bone and flesh were found clinging to some metal hog sheds 50 feet away from the hole.

Both Wyss and a farmer east of the woods said they heard a sharp blast last Thursday night. A resident located three quarters of a mile north of the woods also said he remembered the explosion. He also said he saw car lights entering and leaving the woods that night.

Car tracks leading into the woods were found and they are going to be cast for identification, authorities said.

They said the man appeared to be well groomed. His fingernails were well kept and apparently he had recently had a haircut.

Crime Lab To Make Check

Technicians from the London Prison farm were expected to probe for clues with their mobile crime laboratory this afternoon.

Authorities said the man was probably short and stocky, judging from the size of the bones.

FBI Agent E. W. Hubbard of Galion is assisting Sheriff Stansberry on the case.

Highway patrolmen also joined the case to see if a burning car found near Nevada at 12:30 a.m. Saturday morning has any connection with the slaying. License plates were gone, serial numbers were ground off, and marks on the frame had been melted by a torch of some sort. The car was a 1947 Ford.

Sheriff Stansberry said the features of the crime pointed toward a gangland killing. The attempts to destroy the man's identity made it look like a gang slaying, he said

Working with the Sheriff on the case is his son, Deputy Sheriff Karl Stansberry.

Although area residents who heard the blast Thursday night thought it probably came from the nearby stone quarries, Wyss recalled that the explosion did sound sharper than usual and that some of his neighbors remarked they thought it might have come from his woods. Therefore, when he hauled a load of debris into the woods Monday afternoon, he kept a sharp eye out, he said today. As soon as he spotted a leg, he hurried back to his farmhouse, which lies about half a mile west of the woods, to call the sheriff.

RACER BURNS AFTER WRECK. Bayliss Levrett of Glendale, Calif., was severely burned when his racer, this Brown Motor Special, crashed into a retaining wall at the Indianapolis Speedway and caught fire during a trial run. Levrett was able to jerk off his burning clothing and was later rushed to a hospital. He was getting in shape for the Memorial 500-Mile race when the mishap occurred.

Edison Junior High Y-Teens To Honor Mothers at Dinner

A goal toward which the Edison Junior High School Y-Teens group has worked long and arduously will be realized Wednesday night when the members entertain with the annual mother and daughter party. The event will be a dinner meeting at the Epworth Methodist Church dining room. It will climax several months during which the Y-Teen girls, 12 to 15 years, have worked at a project of "odd jobs" individually. Purpose of the plan was for each girl to earn the money necessary to entertain her mother at the special dinner session, a "Mothers' Mixer." Attendance of about 200 is expected. Grandmothers as well as mothers will be honored.

Baby sitting, helping with housecleaning, scrubbing porches, polishing silver and many other such tasks were among the "ways and means" of accomplishing the purpose. All who took part were enthusiastic about their experiences, adult advisors say, and reported earning as much as $18 in a few weeks' time. Baby sitting provided the highest total.

Style Show Planned

To round out the year's theme for the Y-Teens endeavor toward "Growing Up Gracefully," the emphasis for the program will be "Growth in Poise." A style show, together with discussion of good grooming, graceful posture and like subjects will be given by three teen-age models and Peggy Clark, fashion coordinator from a Columbus department store.

Instrumental music will be by Y-Teen members who play in the school band and orchestra. A welcome will be by the president, Ann Arthur, and her mother, Mrs. Floyd Arthur, will give a response. Group singing will be included. Miss Mary Ellen Matson, music teacher, will be in charge of the music. Following the program, introduction will be made of the newly elected officers, and the closing feature will be the forming of a friendship circle while the Y-Teen quartet sings "The Lord's Prayer." Decorations for the banquet will use a "spring garden" motif, together with the Y-Teen colors of blue and white.

Battle of The Bags

By FRANK TRIPP

Breathes there a couple who cannot remember those tense silent first hours of a journey together? That tight-lipped period after the bags were finally packed; when both wished they were going alone— at least not with each other. The flurry of the getaway.

The number and bounce of theses meaningless little squalls is determined, in otherwise tranquil households, only by the frequency of the occasions. If you're ashamed of it as something peculiar to your house, just broach the subject to any honest acquaintance and learn that you're about average.

It usually starts from two days to a week before departure. When it is being decided what luggage to take or what loaning friend has the right bags to borrow. Invariably the man fires the first gun. He says:

"This time, dear, let's not go loaded down with a lot of truck that we'll have no use for."

She says: "If you're referring to me, darling, take the advice unto thyself."

He says: "You know that I always take the mere necessities It's you who loads up the luggage; I know how to travel."

"Dear" and "darling" from here on cease to clutter up the conversation. She leers: "Then when we get there you go out and buy some misfit that you never can use when you get back home."

Now they're off! He leers back: "You know better than that. I do no such thing. I know what to take."

She says: "Oh yeah; what about that heliotrope sports coat that's hung in the attic five years —the one with the big pearl buttons."

THEY FINALLY DECIDE to take a certain three bags; get 'em out, dusted, and opened up in the bedroom. She begins to pack two days before the take-off. By night the three bags are full. She has four dresses yet to pack and his stuff still rests on top of the dresser.

From then to departure all ground rules are off and no holds barred. They barely miss Reno before he consents to substitute a steamer trunk for one of the bags — provided there'll be no cussed pasteboard hat box on the party. He decides he'd better move in and preempt space for his belongings.

So he takes first crack at the steamer trunk. When he gets through there's only one compartment left. She beats it to the attic and brings back the bag that the steamer trunk was to replace.

She unloads everything of his from the trunk and stuffs it in the retrieved bag. Swearing he'll never go any place with her again as long as he lives, he too makes a trip to the attic. He brings down a big packing case; a battered old-fashioned thing—to shame her.

He takes all of his things out of the bag where she had stuffed them, slams them in the packing case, spreads his suits on top, straps it up and leaves her with a dirty look that says: "There damn it; now it's all yours."

THEY STARTED with three bags. Now they have three bags, a steamer trunk and a packing case. Whereupon she decides that there's room for some things she hadn't planned to take. After three tries she finally gets it all in, all except her hats.

She takes her shoes out of the trunk to put her hats there. They won't fit. Another trip to the attic. The nearest he ever came to killing her was when she came back with a pasteboard hat box, two feet in diameter.

Time comes to load. The inventory now is a steamer trunk, three bags, a packing case and a hat box. It takes half an hour of cute engineering to sandwich them into the car.

They get in the car and she speaks the first word in ten hours: "Aren't you taking your golf clubs?" He also speaks: "Where in hell would I put golf clubs?" Just the same he goes to get them.

In the doorway she calls, "And the radio; we forgot the radio." At length they're off, with golf bag and radio a front seat barrier to threatening homicide.

Two hours out the beauties of nature overcome them. "Let's not spoil our trip; let's be friends," she says. He pulls to the side of the road and kisses her. They get out to stretch. She points to the rear, right tire. It is flat as a pancake — and the spare buried under the luggage

The silence is broken, but what he said can't be told here

open without any interruption of any kind," Perlman said.

Had To Make Decision

The solicitor general said the President had to make a decision on whether to use the machinery provided by the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) or the Taft-Hartley Act. He said the President decided on the WSB machinery, which he called the most recent course provided by Congress.

Before the President acted, Perlman said, the country faced "not only an emergency, but a threat to its actual existence which requires the uninterrupted production of steel."

Perlman said Congress could reject Truman's action by passing a law or adopting a resolution.

Justice Jackson wondered how this could be done "If he (the President) has independent powers."

Perlman replied that the President had agreed to abide by any action taken by Congress so, he said, that is not an issue.

Perlman, answering a question by Justice Black, agreed there was no specific authority for the presidential seizure of the steel mills. But, he added, "We think the power is in the Constitution."

Justice Douglas interjected at one point: "There is no apparent need for Congress?"

Stresses Emergency

Perlman said he made no such contention, but there was an emergency and the President was the only authority under the Constitution with the power and means to protect the nation under the circumstances.

Douglas kept pressing for specific examples of presidential powers. If he has authority to seize the steel mills, how about his right to seize oil, wheat, clothing or anything else needed in the defense effort?

Perlman replied that steel is in a different situation because of its critical importance to defense. He said more than 80 per cent of some steel items go directly into the defense effort;

Finally Douglas asked Perlman whether the President could seize anything for which money is appropriated in the budget.

No, Perlman replied, he did not so contend. He said he was talking only about the President's right to seize the steel mills.

Bus Bought By Marion Y

Will Be Used In Day Camp Program

Something new has been added to the Marion YMCA—a bus to take children on educational trips and for use in the Y day camp program.

Long needed by the Y, it was purchased with the proceeds from a candy stand in the Y lobby. It was sold to the Y by the Marion Baseball Co.

Because of insurance restrictions, only Y membership groups will be allowed use of the bus, Marvin Ludwig, boys work secretary said. She was preceded in death by her husband, Mulford Spearman, who died on Jan. 5, 1944. Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Joe Martin, Mrs. Quentin Burris and Mrs. Dwight Weaver, all of Kenton; a nephew, Asher Sanford of Upper Sandusky; six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

William V. Goshorn

GALION—Funeral services for William V. Goshorn, 74-year-old publisher of the Galion Inquirer, daily newspaper, and president of the Inquirer Printing Company, will be held Wednesday at 3 p.m., at the Snyder Funeral Home. The Rev. Henry W. Kunce, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, where Mr. Goshorn was a member and elder, will conduct the services. Burial will be made in Fairview Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Dr. B. P. Mansfield, Crawford County coroner, stated today that his preliminary report was issued to the effect that Mr. Goshorn had died from natural causes for the purpose of gaining time until Walter Goshorn, son of the publisher, could call members of the family together at his home and tell them the facts. Dr. Mansfield said that unless this were done it was feared that inaccurate and possibly sensational rumors might reach some members of the family and cause them great distress. The coroner's official verdict, late Monday morning, was that Mr. Goshorn took his own life, possibly because of ill health and worry over business matters. In February, Mr. Goshorn suffered a serious heart attack and was a patient at City Hospital for two weeks.

Mr. Goshorn began his newspaper career when he was in high school and worked as reporter for the Galion Inquirer. He was graduated from Wooster College in 1901, after which he purchased the newspaper with the late R. W. Noyer. Later he and the late I. C. Guinther were partners in the paper until it was sold in 1928 to the late D. O. Williams. Pile Up 86 Points

Harding Runners Sweep To Second Consecutive Buckeye League Crown

Harding High School's track team brought the Buckeye League track championship to Marion for the second straight year Monday night as they raced to 86 points in the annual Buckeye League meet at Fostoria.

The Prexy thinclads reigned supreme as second-place Fostoria managed to garner only 38½ points. Findlay finished third with 32½ and Tiffin garnered 23½. Fremont with 22½ and Bowling Green with 20 brought up the rear. Coach Ken Somerlot's crew brought home the large league rotating trophy as well as a permanent trophy and a special crophy awarded for the mile relay.

Record Broken

One record was broken by Fremont's Biggs. He hurled the discus 150-9½. Two other records were broken and another tied but none were allowed because of a strong wind.

Paul Geissler, Harding's top-flight dash man, tied the 100-yard dash mark in a flat 10 seconds and broke the 220 record in 21.8. Dave Caldwell of Findlay shattered the 120-yard high hurdle record in 15 seconds.

Geissler finished as high point man for the meet as he piled up 19 points for the locals. He posted firsts in the 180-yard low hurdles, the 100 and 200 dashes and tied for fourth in the high jump.

Build Up Lead

Harding was able to build up a comfortable margin by finishing first and second in three races. John Ashworth and Ted Price finished one-two in the mile run, Dick Tway and Tom Morton finished ahead in the 440 and Ashworth and Fred Price paced the field in the 880-yard run Other firsts for the locals were posted by Jim Russell in the shotput and the mile relay team, composed of Dick Tway, Tom Morton, Glenn Craft and Ted Price.

Next action for the Prexy runners will be Wednesday at Lima South when the locals will be seeking their 20th straight dual meet win and their third straight undefeated season.

The meet will serve as a warm-up for the Central District meet at Delaware on Saturday. Columbus East and North have been installed as co-favorites for the district meet.

HURLS NO-HITTER

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Wally Sinner, a Billings rookie with a sizzling fire-ball, became the first Pioneer League pitcher of 1952 to twirl a no-hit, no-run game as he handcuffed Boise Yanks 7-0 Monday night. Sinner was in command all the way. He faced only 29 Yanks and struck out five while walking only three. He was never touched for anything which even faintly resembled a hit.

Taking Tight Ones Keep Giants, Tribe on Top

Nats, Dodgers Hang On With One-Run Wins

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Know what's keeping Cleveland, Washington, Brooklyn and the New York Giants at or around the top in the Major League standings? Ability to win the close ones.

There's an old baseball adage that the team capturing the most one-run decisions usually wins the flag. That has been true down through the years. One of the reasons the Giants edged the Dodgers for the National League pennant last year was because they had a 34-21 record in one-run decisions to Brooklyn's 31-23 mark.

A check of this year's figures show that the Dodgers and Senators own the best record in close contests. Each club is runner-up in its league. The league-leading Giants and Indians are second in the one-run department.

Pirates Lose

Appropriately enough, Pittsburgh's cellar-dwelling Pirates in the National have dropped all four of their one-run decisions. The sixth place White Sox, with a 3-6 record, own the poorest mark in the American.

There was only one game scheduled Monday — Phiadelphia at Brooklyn at night—but that was postponed because of cold and wet grounds.

The next two weeks will tell whether Washington in the American and Chicago and Cincinnati in the National, the three current surprise clubs, are really improved over last year or are mere morning glories.

All three will be on the road, the Senators, only two games out of first place, take on the last-place Tigers tonight in the first of three games in Detroit.

The Cubs and Reds, tied for third place with 14-9 records, invade the east tonight, Chicago opening a two-game series in Philadelphia and Cincinnati inaugurating a two-day stand in New York.

GEHRMANN WINS. Don Gehrmann of Wisconsin breasts the tape as he wins the fifth running of the Boardwalk Mile in Atlantic City, N. J. (May 11) in a record for the event of 4:05.3. Horace Ashenfelter of the New York Athletic Club ran second, a yard and a half behind. Gehrmann spurted into the lead 30 yards from the finish to beat Ashenfelter. The time bettered the Boardwalk Mile record of 4:05.5, set by Fred Wilt two years ago.

Veterans Lead Hitting Parade

Rizzuto High in AL; Robinson Tops NL

NEW YORK (AP)—Two veteran "money players," Shortstop Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees and Second Baseman Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers, top the American and National League batting derbys today.

Rizzuto and Robinson each enjoys a seven-point lead. Rizzuto is hitting .331, and Robinson .393.

Al Rosen, the power house third baseman of the Cleveland Indians, moved from fifth to a second place tie with Boston's Dom DiMaggio. The two vets, through games of Sunday, were pounding away at a .344 clip. Rosen also leads the American League in home runs with eight and runs batted in, 20.

Outfielder Gene Woodling of the Yanks and Left Fielder Dale Mitchell of the Indians are tied for fourth place at .340.

Big Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati is fifth among National Leaguers with .337.

Prexies Drop 7-5 Verdict To Ashland

Last-Inning Rally Hands Harding Fifth Loss in Six Games

Breaking a 5-5 deadlock with two runs in the top of the seventh, the Ashland Hilltoppers handed Harding its fifth loss in six games, 7-5, Monday at Lincoln Park.

Trailing, 5-2, the Prexies rallied for three runs in the sixth inning to tie the score. After Jim Larsen drew a walk, Nick Alex heat out a bunt Eddie Morse then smashed a triple into left-center scoring Larsen and Alex. Joe Thomas followed with a single scoring Morse with the tying run.

Errors Hurt

After two Ashland men reached base on two errors in the seventh Swineford delivered a broken-bat single scoring the winning run. An outfield fly produced the second run of the inning.

Harding's first two tallies were scored on a walk to Compton, an error, and a single by Morse. Harding committed seven errors, three of them coming in the third and two in the seventh.

Ashland's left-fielder, Harpster, was the top hitter, collecting a single, double, and triple in three trips.

Ashland Southpaw Messner had a one-hitter going until the sixth when Harding got three of its five hits. Compton was in trouble most of the game, giving up nine hits, including three doubles and a triple.

Meet Delaware

Thursday Harding will seek revenge against Dlaware at Lincoln Park, Delaware defeated Harding in an earlier contest, 7-3.

Colonels, Millers Tighten AA Race

By The Associated Press

Only one game separated Kansas City, Louisville and Minneapolis in the white-hot American Association first division race Tuesday.

The Milwaukee Brewers, idle Monday night, led by a two-game margin over Kansas City. The Blues are only one-half game ahead of Louisville and one game on top of Minneapolis, both winners Monday night.

Louisville battered Kansas City 16-7 to snap the Blues four-game victory chain and hand them their most humiliating defeat of the season.

Minneapolis shaded Toledo 4-3 in 11 innings Marv Blaylock's third hit of the game was a single with the bases loaded to drive in the clinching run.

Bob Wilson's two-run single climaxed a three-run eighth inning that gave St. Paul an 8-6 decision over Columbus.

Grid Browns Trade Agase, Get Sharkey

CLEVELAND (AP) — Alex Agase, a guard for the Cleveland Browns since 1948, will be a line coach on the newly-formed Dallas Texans of the National Football League.

The Browns traded Agase—an All-American in 1946 when he captained Illinois to a Big Ten crown and Rose Bowl victory—for Guard Ed Sharkey, 25, who will be mustered out of the Marine Corps next month.

Sharkey, spent four seasons, with the New York Yankees in pro football before he entered military service. He was an All-Southern Conference guard while at Duke University in 1945 and also played college football at Nevada.

Agase, who had been spelling Tommy Thompson at middle linebacker, was praised by Coach Paul Brown as "one of the finest men I know." Brown added:

"I'm happy that his efforts of the past are to be rewarded with a fine coaching assignment."

Sharkey played last year on the Marine' Quantico team, along with Weldon Humble. a former Brown guard. Humble expects to be released with Sharkey next month and plans to return to the Browns.

Gromek Faces Bombers In Series Opener

Larry Doby Set For Action; Easter, Hegan Remain Inactive

CLEVELAND, (AP) — Steve Gromek, the same icebreaker who started Cleveland's Indians on a three-game sweep in Yankee Stadium last week, hurls again tonight when the New Yorkers pay a return visit.

Gromek (2-0) shut out the Yanks 1-0 last Tuesday, accomplishing the unusual among a siege of Indian massacres in the east coast stadium. His victory and two that followed also ended a highly touted theory that the Tribesmen were psychologically unfit for competition there.

Opposing him tonight in the opener of this three-game encounter will be Rookie Southpaw Bill Miller (1-0), a Kansas City alumnus whose 3-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox is his only major league victory. Miller is an unknown quantity to the Redskins as a team.

Although New York Manager Casey Stengel did not name his starters for the second and third games, Ed Lopat probably will oppose Bob Feller Wednesday night and either Vic Raschi or Allie Reynolds will meet Early Wynn Thursday.

Larry Doby, limited to pinch-hitting jobs since May 1 because of a sore thigh muscle, is expected to return to the Cleveland outfield tonight. Luke Easter still is benchbound with his pulled left leg muscle, but he may get back in the lineup before the New Yorkers leave town. Jim Hegan probably won't make the series. His sore ankle became worse when he caught Sunday.

The Indians still are three men over the player limit of 25 which is effective at midnight tonight. Will Harridge, presdient of the American League, has denied the Tribe's request to carry Bob Kennedy over and above the limit until he leaves the club May 21. Kennedy has been recalled by the Marines and must report to the Jacksonville, Fla., Naval Air Station by May 29

Maglie, Garcia Top Hurlers in Majors

NEW YORK (AP) - Pitchers Sal Maglie of the New York Giants and Mike Garcia of the Cleveland Indians today boasted the best earned run averages in the major leagues.

Figures released by the Associated Press' new statistical bureau disclosed Maglie, ace of the Giants' strong mound corps, has yielded only seven runs—five of them earned—in 44 innings, for a phenomenal 1.02 earned run percentage.

Garcia surrendered 12 runs, seven earned, in 54 innings for a 1.17 percentage, to top the American League. The Indians righthander has won four games and lost two. Maglie is unbeaten in five decisions. Figures include games of Sunday, May 11.

St. Mary, Wesley, Trinity Post Wins In Church Loop Play

In spite of an intermittent drizzle and cold weather, the Church Softball Loop completed the second week card of three games Monday night at Garfield Park with St. Mary, Wesley and Trinity marking up victories.

Trinity Baptist punched four runs across in the first inning on three hits and went on to trip Greenwood by a 10-2 count. While Colby was holding the Greenwood nine to only four scattered binkles, the Baptists shelled Mel Donnugh for a total of 12 hits and were aided further by five Greenwood miscues. The loss was Greenwood's second of the campaign while Trinity now holds a one and one record.

Wesley Methodists rolled to its second win of the season by blasting Church of the Brethren in a curtailed contest which went only five innings, 10-0. The game was called by Umpires Rizzo and Fetter in accordance with the Marion Softball rules which allow such a move when any team leads by 10 or more runs after the completion of five innings. Jim Ekey was credited with a shutout for Wesley, although reached for a total of four hits. The winning Wesley crew had its big inning in the 4th when they shoved over four runs on one hit, a single by Jim Frank.

Don Moran of St. Mary and Howard Gilbert of Epworth locked in a pitcher's duel in the final game with the Irish taking the best played contest of the evening by a 3-1 score. The Irish scored single runs in the second, fifth and seventh innings, all the result of extra base blows. In the first, Larry Leser led off with a double and scored on a fielder's choice. Stew Norris opened the fifth with a long triple and scored after Myers flied deep to center. After Norris had singled with two away in the final inning, Myers doubled him home with the insurance run. Epworth's only run came in the second inning, also the result of the extra base blows. Two successive doubles by Zeisler and Fritz Guy after two had been retired plated the Epworth tally.

Moran allowed seven hits in winning his second game while Gilbert checked St. Mary with a total of six bingles.

Lively Ball Blamed For Long Games

Frick Says Pitchers Exercise Care, Force Marathon Contests

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, (AP)—A baseball fan who has been out of the country much of his adult life notes that games are running longer than they did in his distant youth and wonders if we can supply him with a ready explanation

With the assistance of Commissioner Ford Frick who sat through many of the swifties back in the days when he was a baseball writer we can at least confuse the issue

"It is a different game" says the Commissioner, not entirely coining a phrase 'Back in the days of the dead ball the pitchers could afford to wheel the ball in there They didn't have to be so cautious and so threw fewer balls If a pitcher had a two or three run lead he felt fairly safe They were not going to hit a home run off him—only singles

"Now, when they're all looking for the big inning the pitcher is fighting for his life all the time He knows that no lead is really safe so he takes his time and works carefully on every batter. He can't afford to serve up anything good

"IN THE OLD DAYS teams were always playing for one run They took chances on the bases and of course many of them were thrown out That made for faster innings too It's a different game'

The fastest nine-inning game on record—51 minutes—was played between the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Phils on Sept 28 1919 That is less than half the time it takes to complete an average game nowadays but Frick hastens to point out that the contest which set the speed mark scarcely was a normal one

'That was the last day of the season with nothing at stake and they used to like to get them over I'm pretty sure Alexander was one of the pitchers in that game He probably didn't throw a ball"

As it happens, the Commissioner witnessed the second fastest game It was played Sept 26 1926 between the mighty New York Yankees and the St Louis Browns and was zipped through in 55 minutes That permitted almost precisely six minutes for each inning including the change-over

'I can tell you about that one,' Frick said "I remember that Sam Jones was pitching for the Yanks Everybody got into the game including the coaches by mutual consent of the managers Everybody was hitting and running the bases as he pleased and having a wonderful time The box score was a beauty

ALL THIS SEEMS TO STRAY however from the original objective of telling our nostalgic inquirer why it takes around two and a half hours nowadays to play a game which might have required 45 minutes less a few decades back We can only suggest additionally that he go out some warm afternoon when Jim Hearn for example is laboring for the Giants

Jim If he is in difficulties might not move a muscle for a minute or two and then only to draw a deep breath His next display of animation will be to pick up the rosin bag and study it conscientiously Jim's about ready then to commune with his catcher at some length and in the fullness of time he can be counted upon to toil uncoil and let fly It's an impressive if sometimes tiring tableau

There are other time consumers —the funeral tread of the reliefpitcher in from the bullpen, the elaborate rub down of each of several dozen new balls the frequent conferences at the mound But as the Commissioner says the fans are kept late mainly because most pitchers purely dread to part with that horsehide

Marion Golfers To Oppose Ben Hogan In 18-Hole Round

Marion golfers will be offered a chance to play against Ben Hogan come Saturday, May 31.

Hogan will be playing an 18-hole round at Northwood Club in Dallas, Texas, while the local greensmen will be teeing off at the Marion Country Club course.

The nationwide contest is part of National Golf Day which is co-sponsored by the Professional Golfers Association and Life Magazine. It will be Bantam Ben's score against golfers at 4,970 courses throughout the country. Hogan, U. S. Open champion, will be shooting at the scene of this summer's open.

Allowed Handicaps

All contestants will be allowed their full club handicaps. Women shooting from women's tees, will be allowed five strokes in addition to their handicap. Golfers without a handicap rating will be judged according to the Galloway Handicap System, a method of computing and establishing a fair handicap on the basis of a single round.

Any golfer who tops Hogan's score will be awarded a bronze medal from the sponsoring organizations inscribed "I Beat Ben Hogan, National Golf Day, May 31, 1952." The pro at each course will be responsible for turning the winning scores into the PGA.

An entry fee of $1 will be charged throughout the country. Half of the proceeds collected will go to the USO while the other half will be used in the establisnment of a National Golf Fund to be administered by PGA officials.

Score Cards Available

Jack Stoddard, pro at the Marion Country Club, said the special score cards for the match would be available at the course pro shop. Spokesmen at the Mar-O-Del course said golfers there probably would not be taking part in the National Golf Day observance.

Giant Hurlers Set For Reds

Clubs Open 2-Game Series at New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The weather man has fixed it up again so the Cincinnati Reds will have to face the New York Giants' two top pitchers in their series opening tonight.

A couple of weeks ago when the Giants hit Cincinnati, rain had forced postponement of a couple of New York games so Sal Maglie and Larry Jansen, the top men of the New York hurling staff, were all rested and ready. They each beat the Redlegs

Maglie and Jansen were to have pitched against Boston Sunday but rain interfered so again two well rested flingers, who rate just about tops in the National League with or without rest, will be ready to greet Manager Luke Sewell's lads.

The Rhinelanders realize, of course, that they have to face Maglie and Jansen at various times but they don't appreciate getting the double dose twice in a row when both hurlers have had plenty of rest.

Neither Sewell nor Manager Leo Durocher were sure just how they'd rotate their pitchers for the two-game series but for New York it was slated to be Maglie and Jansen or Jansen and Maglie.

Sewell indicated he'd either lead off with Herman Wehmeier and follow with Frank Hiller or else reverse the order.

The Giant victories in Cincinnati were by 2 to 1 and 4 to 1 scores. Maglie whipped Ewell Blackwell and Jansen finished ahead of Harry Perkowski, Frank Smith and Eddie Blake.

The only runs the Reds scored in that series came on home runs by Hank Edwards. He got a circuit blow in the fifth inning of each encounter.

Amputees Confident After Dropping Opener

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—An amputees' softball team, with one-legged men in the infield, one-armed men in the outfield, made its debut in a regular City League Monday night and got licked 11-6.

The amputees, most of them war veterans, had a rough time with ground balls but did well enough at the plate to stay in the running. Far from discouraged, they agreed with young Lee Hargis who said:

"We'll win plenty of games when we get used to this."

Hargis left his leg on a Korean battlefield He can't maneuver well enough to play yet but he yelled himself hoarse coaching first base.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (INS)—The stock market followed an uncertain price course today.

Gains and losses appeared to be fairly evenly balanced throughout the list with most changes restricted to minor fractions.

Volume continued small and although first hour volume was a trifle larger at 180,000 shares, early indications pointed to another below-million share total for the full day. Since the 1,000,000 share mark has been the traditional break-even point for brokerage houses, this extended period of illness is proving a financial blow to many Wall Street firms. This was reflected in the sale of a stock exchange membership Monday at $43,000, the lowest price in almost three years. The previous high this year was $53,000.
